

INDEX

TO THE

HUNDRED AND SIXTY-SIXTH VOLUME OF THE QUARTERLY REVIEW.

A.

Apocrypha, the, 273—its severance from the Bible, 274—inferiority to the canonical writings, 275—the Homilies discontinued, ib.—expunged from the calendar of lessons in the Church of Ireland, 276—moderate use in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America, ib.—not valued by the theologians of Judaism, 277—Dr. Salmon's 'Introduction,' ib.—the double Jewish canon of the Old Testament, 278—difficulty in defining the limits between canonical and apocryphal writings, 279—reasons for the admixture of canonical and uncanonical books, 280—definition of the Canon by the Council of Trent, 280–282—general view in the Eastern Churches, 282—three different streams of Jewish thought, 283—pre-Christian literature, ib.—non-Messianic doctrine of the Apocryphal books, 284—revival in Palestine, 286—Mr. Lupton's summary of I. Esdras, 287.—II. Esdras, its composite form, 287–291—Tobit, 291–294—Mr. Fuller's manipulation of a refractory text, 293—Esther, 294–296—Judith, 296—Susanna, Bel and the Dragon, the Prayer of Manasses, 297—Song of the Three Children, 297, 298—Book of Wisdom, 298–300—Ecclesiasticus, 300–303—Addison on the descriptions of friendships in Ecclesiasticus, 303—Baruch, 303–305—Maccabees, 305.

Arab dentist, an, 90; surgeon, 94.
See Layard.

Argyll, Duke of, 'Commercial Principles applicable to Contracts for the Hire of Land,' 219.

B.

Balfour, Rt. Hon. A. J., his speech at Stalybridge, 505, n.

Vol. 166.—No. 332.

Ball, Mr., on the Benedicite, &c., 297.

See Apocrypha.

Ballantyne, A., 'Lord Carteret; a Political Biography,' 179.

Bampffield, Mr., 'Our Losses,' 55. See Roman Catholic.

Bank Holidays, not an unmixed good, 69. See Lessons, &c.

Bashford, Mr., his extensive glass houses in Jersey, 435. See Garden Farming.

Bateman, Mr. J., 'The Great Landowners of Great Britain and Ireland,' 214.

Beaconsfield, Lord, on Lord Carteret's character, 206.

Becher, Rev. J. T., efforts to improve the management of Friendly Societies, 384.

Belknap, Capt., on the greatest ocean depth near the East of the mainland of Japan, 170. See Marchesa.

Berry, Duchesse de, her escapades and imprisonment, 459. See Monarchy.

Best, Hon. S., the Deposit system originated, 384. See Friendly Societies.

Blackley, Canon, his scheme for a National Sick and Pension Benefit Society, 401.

Blomfield, Mr., 7. See Jenyns.

Blunt, Mr., case of, 249. See Lawlessness.

Brawn, Miss F., described by Keats, 318.

Braye, Lord, on the lavish expenditure of the Anglo-Roman Church, 54.

C.

Cabot's Life of Emerson, 130.

Caird, Sir J., 'The Land Interest and Supply of Food,' 213.

Canning, Sir Stratford, described by Layard, 108.

Carey, Mr. A. D., his two years' journey through Central Asia, 164.

2 O

Carlyle's friendship for Emerson, 142
—compared with him, 156—on the instruction to be found in a portrait, 344.

Carrel's sketch of the bourgeois in Louis Philippe's time, 461. See Monarchy.

Carteret, Lord, a Political Biography, 179—misrepresentations of him, 180—family history and early career, birth, 181—marriage, domestic life, 182—personal appearance, wit, and culture, 183—political opinions, 184—Lord Lieut. of Devonshire, 186—ambassador to Sweden, 187—Lord Lieut. of Ireland, and Secretary of State for the Southern Department, ib.—Foreign Secretary, 188—on the proposed restitution of Gibraltar to Spain, 188—difficult position, 190—return from Ireland, 191—efforts to avert war, 192—Walpole's peace policy, 193—war with Spain, 194—at the head of the new government, 195—employment of foreign troops, 196—bold and comprehensive views, 197—endeavour to form a united Germany, 198—Hanau negotiations, 199—policy rejected by the Cabinet, 199–201—solid attainments and vigorous intellect, 202—becomes Earl of Granville, 203—ministry resigned, ib.—the King's attempt to choose his own ministers, 204—Lord Beaconsfield on his unsuccessful enterprise, 206—President of the Council, 207—second marriage, ib.—death, 208.

Clerk, the English, compared with the German, 82. See Lessons.

Colvin, Sidney, Life of Kents, 308.

D.

Darwin's Life and Letters, 1—his ancestors and family name, 2, 3—autobiographical sketch, 4—early faults, 5—religious feelings, school life, 6—at Edinburgh, 7—Cambridge, 8—friendship for Prof. Henslow, 9—scheme of visiting the Canary Isles, 10—proposal of joining the 'Beagle' as naturalist, 11—appointment and preparations, 12—enthusiasm for Humboldt's writing, 13—varying moods on board, 14—sojourn at Keeling Island, 15—return home and disposal of his collections, ib.—publishes the 'Zoology of the Voyage of the Beagle,' 16—systematic plan of working, 17—marriage, 18—bad health, ib.—at Down, 19—the 'Cirripedes,' ib.—his 'old notes' on Species, 20—provision for its publication in case of his premature death, 21—experiments with eggs, seeds, &c., 22—the 'pigeon fancy,' 23—coincidence of Mr. Wallace's views of 'Natural Selection,' 24—simultaneous communication to the Linn. Society, 25—Prof. Huxley's chapter on the 'Origin of Species,' 26—vivacity and sprightliness of his letters, 27—faithful presentment of his everyday-life, 28—love of novels, and abstaining from controversy, 29.

Difficulties of Good Government, the, 496—results of the abolition of slavery in the West Indies, 497—introduction of representative institutions, ib.—failure of the principle of self-government, 498—three principal factors, 499—animosities of the Whigs and Tories, 500—attitude of the Whigs in the American war, 501—Disestablishment of the Irish Church, announced by Mr. Gladstone, 502—success of his manoeuvre, 503—the Reform Bill of 1885 and the general election, 504—Mr. Gladstone declared for Home Rule and Disestablishment in Wales, ib.—the plan of opposition a corruption of the party system, 505—violent and reckless tendencies, 507—influence of the aristocratic element in the old regime, ib.—impending changes, 508—Prof. Goldwin Smith's article in the 'National Review,' 509—Lord Palmerston's vote of want of confidence, ib.—demand for reform, 510—weakness of the Conservative party, 511—warnings of the Liberals, 512—false system of political philosophy, 513.

Dowell, Stephen, his 'History of Taxation and Taxes in England,' 521—on the repeal of the Sugar Duties, 533.

Druce, Mr., on the system of tenant-farmers, 75—on middlemen, 76.

E.

Emerson, Cabot's Life of, 130—effect of his first sermon and addresses, 132—energetic teachings, 133—spread of transcendentalism, 134—foreign influences, 135—impressive personality, 137—childhood, 138—studious boyhood, 139—at Harvard

College, 140—minister to the second Unitarian Church in Boston, ib.—resigns and visits Europe, 141—describes various celebrated men, ib.—return to America, second marriage, 142—essays, ib.—belief in intention, 143—peculiar creed, 144—intellectual and religious independence, 145—his preface to an American edition of 'Sartor Resartus,' 146—the 'Dial,' 147—the Brook Farm Experiment, 148—refuses to join the Association, 149—death of his son, 150—his volume of 'English Traits,' 151—a consistent champion of negro emancipation, ib.—failure of mind and memory, 152—rank as a poet, ib.—philosophical spirit, 153—dislike of system, 154—attitude towards religion, 155—compared with Carlyle, 156—style of writing, 157—a brilliant essayist, 158.

English Gladstonian party compared with the left of the French Chamber under Louis Philippe, 400. See Monarchy.

F.

Fairechild, Hon. C. S., on taxation, 545.

Fallopio, Gabriel, his researches in anatomy and botany, 116.

Fitz-Roy, Capt., 11. See Darwin.

Flood—legends and traditions, 125. See Mammoth.

Formosa, island of, described by Dr. Guillemard, 165. See Marchesa.

Forster, Rt. Hon. W. E., his effort to provide relief to the working classes in old age, 385.

Friendly Societies, 377—prevailing impression on the public mind, 378—affiliated Societies or Orders, ib.—strange titles, 379—the Lodge, the District, and the Order, ib.—unequal funds for relief, 380—improved organisation, 381—the Manchester Unity of Odd Fellows, 382—annual conference, ib.—system in the Colonies, 383—expense of the affiliated system, ib.—the Becher Clubs, 384—the Deposit system originated by Mr. Best, ib.—efforts of Mr. W. E. Forster, 385—assistance of Mr. J. T. Pratt, ib.—Mr. J. M. Ludlow's Year Book, 386—Lord Greville's Bill, 387—dividing societies, 388—disadvantage of registration, 389—the Royal Liver Society, 389, 390—the Prudential, 390—Mr. Stanley's Report, 390—392—salaries of the secretaries, 391—difficulty of inducing the poorer classes to insure their lives, 393—395—illegal and infant insurance, 395—danger of neglect to children's lives, 396—case of the 'Independent Mutual Brethren Society,' ib.—of the 'United Assurance Society,' 397—unsatisfactory management of the Burial Societies, 398—State interference, 399—Committees of the House of Commons to enquire into the best means of Provident Assurance against Pauperism, 400—Canon Blackley's scheme, 401—confusion between an insurance and a tax, 402, 403—payment by wage-earners, 404—socialist phase of the scheme, 405—Prince Bismarck's theories, 406—Dr. Aschrott on compulsory insurance, ib.

Froude, Mr. J. A., 'The West Indies; or, the Bow of Ulysses,' 496.

Fuller, Mr., his manipulation of a refractory text in Tobit, 293. See Apocrypha.

G.

Garden Farming, 407—table of acreage of market gardens, orchards and nurseries, 408, 409—fruit supply, 410, 421—nursery grounds, 411—hops, ib.—the potato crop, ib.—potato-growing counties in England, 412—in Scotland, 413—diminished foreign competition, ib.—imports in 1886, 414—broccoli or cauliflowers, 415—cabbages, asparagus, green peas, French beans, sea-kale, 416—carrots, &c., onions, salad-vegetables, &c., 417—mushroom-growing, ib.—cultivation of culinary vegetables in Scotland and Ireland, 418—imports of unenumerated vegetables, 419—bad system of distribution, rail charges, &c., 420—import of apples, 423—pears, rhubarb, 424—gooseberries, strawberries, 425—raspberries, stone fruit, 426—tomatoes, ib.—grapes, 427—imports of raw fruit, 428—annual average produce of English fruit land, 429—jam factories, 430—ornamental trees, shrubs, cut flowers, 431—hop-growing, ib.—railway rates in favour of foreign produce, 432—system of cultivation in the Channel Islands, 433—435—Mr. Bashford's success in tomatoes and grapes, 436—exports from Guernsey in 1887, 437—Mr. Le Polly's success in vegetables, ib.

Giffen, Mr., on the rate of increase of national prosperity, 65.

Gladstone, Mr., his hue and cry against the police, 243 — announcement of the Disestablishment of the Irish Church, 502 — responsible for the 'Reign of Terror,' 503 — system of modern party government, 505 — on the power of a British Chancellor of Exchequer, 515.

Glebe farms, diminished rent of, 225. See Landed Interests.

Goschen, Mr., his Budgets of 1887 and 1888, 540. See National Finances.

Granville, Lord, 204. See Carteret.

Greville, Lord, his Bill to prevent the Establishment of any Society without an actuary's certificate, 387. See Friendly Societies.

Greville, Mr., on Louis Philippe's abdication, 457.

Guillelard, F. H. H., 'The Cruise of the Marchesa,' 160 — his power of observation and scientific thought, 164.

Gulf Stream, the, delusions about, 169. See Marchesa.

H.

Harris, W. J., 'The Food Crop of the World,' 211.

Hartington, Lord, his loyal and straightforward conduct, 242. See Lawlessness.

Henslow, Prof., his friendship for Darwin, 9.

House of Commons, brawls and disturbances in, 251. See Lawlessness.

Howorth, Mr. H. H., 'The Mammoth and the Flood,' 112.

Hunt, Leigh, his influence over Keats, 314 — style of language towards political opponents, 333.

Huxley, Prof., his chapter on the Reception of the Origin of Species in Darwin's Life, 26 — on Catastrophism and Uniformitarianism, 124. See Mammoth.

I.

Jam Factory, Lord Sudeley's, at Toddington, 430. See Garden Farming.

Jeffries, Mr. R., 'Hodge and his Masters,' 233 — on the want of courtesy in the cottager, 235.

Jenyns, Leonard, lighting his room at Eton with gas, 7. See Darwin.

K.

Kametchatka, described by Dr. Guillelard, 170. See Marchesa.

Kaspar Hauser, 469 — first appearance in Nuremberg, ib. — different versions of the letter, 470 — writes his name, 471 — personal appearance, ib. — neglect of the police to collect depositions, 472 — conformation of his lower limbs, 473 — preternatural acuteness of his senses, 473, 474 — his few intelligible words, 474 — first teachings and average intelligence, 475 — Herr Hiltel's account of him, 476 — Herr Binder's statement, 477 — committed to the care of Prof. Daumer, 478 — acquires the art of speech, ib. — thirst for knowledge and perseverance, 479 — change in his diet, ib. — gentle and humane nature, 480 — attempts to assassinate him, 481 — Herr von Tücher appointed his guardian, 482 — described by Herr von Feuerbach, 482, 483 — Lord Stanhope's wish to adopt him, 483 — removed to Herr Meyer's in Ansbach, 484 — demoralizing effect on him, 485 — placed as clerk in a Government Chancery, ib. — journey through Hungary, 486 — attacked and stabbed, 487 — death, 488 — reward offered for the detection of the murderer, ib. — question as to suicide, 489 — stone placed on the spot where he was struck, 490 — witnesses examined, 491 — enlarged condition of his liver, 492 — deficient development of brain, 493 — his epiphany, 495.

Keats, 308 — birth and early years, 310 — character, 311 — death of his mother, apprenticed to a surgeon, ib. — enthusiastic admiration of Spenser's 'Faery Queen,' 312 — walks the hospitals, ib. — abandons medicine for literature, 313 — various sonnets, ib. — romantic friendship for Leigh Hunt, 314 — and for Haydon, 315 — intimacy with J. H. Reynolds, 316 — numerous friends, personal appearance, ib. — first volume of poetry published, 317 — Endymion and other poems, ib. — walking tour with Brown and its results, 318 — acquaintance with Fanny Brawne, ib. — fits of despondency, 319 — failing of his poetic powers, 320 — self-tormenting, 321 — first sign of his illness, 322 — third volume of poetry, 323 — at Naples, ib. — death, 324 — attempts at self-improvement, 325 — feeling for beauty, ib. — physical sensibility, 326 — sensuous enjoyment, 327 — want of moral purpose, 328 — early poetry, 329 — various criticisms of Endymion, 330-333—development of his powers, 333—emancipation from the Hampstead school, 334—range of power in his last volume of poetry, 335—Hyperion, ib.—Eve of St. Agnes, and other poems, 336—the Odes, 337.

L.

Landed Interests and Landed Estates, 210—amount of corn available from other countries, 211—deficiency of hay and straw, 212—impoverishment of landowner and tenant-farmers, 213—Mr. Bateman's compendium of the principal owners of land, 214—decrease in the gross annual value, 215—question of fair rent, 215, 216—expenses to the landlord, 216—losses by bad tenants, 217—American farmers, ib.—expense of enclosing land, 218—Duke of Argyll on communistic cultivation, 219—Mr. Pell on capital expenditure on land, 220—the allotment system, 221—mortgage, 222—rent and tithe rent-charges, 223—average price of corn, 224—diminished rent of glebe farms in the diocese of Ely, 225—annual outlay on large estates, 226—the Conington estate, 229—Earl of Leicester's at Holkham, 230—increase of landlords' difficulties, 232—Mr. Jefferies on the reduction of rent, 233—old type of farmer and agricultural labourer, 234—safety of a number of freeholders, 236—peasant proprietorship, 237—decrease of rural population, 238.

Lawlessness, Contest with, 240—unabated confidence in the Government, 241—steady progress of the Liberal Unionists, ib.—Lord Hartington's loyalty and patriotism, 242—effect of the West-End Riots, 243—hue and cry against the police, ib.—Mr. Gladstone's advice, 244—impression on the general public, ib.—Mr. Sweeney's warning to the 'Aristocrats,' 245—special constables, 246—effect of the Crimes Act, and the 'two governments' in Ireland, 246—attitude of the priesthood, 247—members of the League, 248—cases of Mr. O'Brien, Father Ryan, and Mr. Blunt, 249—dangers to the House of Commons, 250—brawls and disorders, 251—resources of the Irish members, ib.—tactics of the Parnellites and Gladstonians, 252—Rules of Procedure, 253—necessary majority for the Closure, 254—duration of sittings, 255—difficulties of the work of Government, 256—number of speeches in the Session, 257—paid Irish members, ib.—working hours, 258—authority of the Chair, 259—danger to the Speaker's office, 260—Dr. Tanner's 'apologies,' 261, 262—alliance of the Parnellites and Radicals, 263—effect of Lord Ripon's teaching in India, 264—disorder spreading in Wales, 265—Welsh Land League, 266—Crofter agitation, 267—misrepresentations of the Separatists, 268—Dr. O'Reilly's letter in the 'Times,' 269—Mr. O'Brien's declarations, 270—Mr. T. D. Sullivan's 'God save Ireland,' ib.—Mr. Sexton on the independence of Ireland, 271—instincts of the working classes, 271, 272.

Layard's Early Adventures, 87—preparations for his journey, 88—at Jerusalem, 89—leaves for Petra, 90—Bedouin dentistry, ib.—at Wady Musa, 91—Dead Sea, ib.—ruins of Ammon, 92—entry into Damascus, 93—Arab surgery, 94—at Baghdad, 94, 103—assumes the Persian dress, 95—Isfahan, 96—Tala Kul, ib.—Mehemet Taki Khan, 97—prescribes for his son, 98—effect of poetry on the Bakhtiyari, 99—the Sabseans, 101—encounter with the Shammars, 102—at the mountain fortress of Jaffer Kuli Khan, 104—Shuster, 105—Dizful, the tomb of Daniel, ib.—the importance of establishing political and commercial relations with Khuzistan, 106—explores the river Karun, 107—Mr. Lucas's entry into the log-book, ib.—at Constantinople, 108—Sir Stratford Canning, ib.—resides at the British Embassy, 109—expedition to Nineveh, 110—described by Percy Smythe, ib.

Leicester, Earl of, the expenses of his estate at Holkham, 230. See Landed Interests.

Le Pelly, extensive vegetable cultivation in Guernsey, 437. See Garden Farming.

Lessons of Prosperity and Depression, some, 63—causes of it, 64—Mr. Giffen on the rate of increase of national prosperity, 65—fraudulent practices of the British merchants, 66—Jerry-builders, 67—Bank holidays, 68—growth of luxury, 69-71—decrease in the value of land, 72—tenant-farmers, 73—style of living 74—Mr. Druce on the changed cha-

- rafter of farming, 75—evil of middlemen, 76—danger of forcible resistance to legal process, 77—reaction on the agricultural labourers, 78—on the working man, 79—Trades Unions, 80—Poor Law relief, 81—foreign competition, ib.—new markets, 82—the German and the English clerk compared, 82, 83—need of technical and commercial education, 83—shopkeepers, 'stores,' 84.
- Liberal Unionists, steady progress of, 242. See Lawlessness.
- Liu-Kiu islands described by Dr. Guillemard, 167.
- Lord, Mr., on the false stamping of cotton goods, 66. See Lessons.
- Ludlow, Mr. J. M., his Year Book, 386.
- Lupton, Mr., his summary of I. Esdras, 287. See Apocrypha.
- Luxury, growth of, 69. See Lessons, &c.
- Lyell, Sir C., his theory of Uniformity, 112. See Mammoth.
- M.
- Mahon, Lord (Stanhope), his suggestion for the formation of a National Portrait Gallery, 344.
- Mammoth and the Flood, the, 112—attack on the theory of Uniformity, ib.—the remains found in Northern Siberia, 114—origin of its name, 115—giant-theory, ib.—various solutions, 116—habitat of the Elephantoid, 117—migration, 118—on change of climate, 119—instantaneous transition to Arctic cold, 120—the Mastodon in North and South America, 121—corroborative evidence of the 'stone-men,' ib.—extinction of the Palæolithic man, 122—catastrophic ending of the pleistocene age, 123—Prof. Huxley on Catastrophism and Uniformitarianism, 124—historical attestation from early myths and traditions, 125—flood legends, 126—Biblical version, 127—its three characteristics, 128.
- Marchesa, the Cruise of the, 160—Bali and Lombok, difference in the fauna, ib.—Formosa, 165—its geographical and biological problems, 166—the Liu-Kiu islands, 167—fortifications of Shiuri, 168—the great Kuro Siwo, or Gulf Stream, 169—Kamtehatka, its numerous volcanoes, 170—Avatcha Bay, 171—snow-covered volcanoes, 172—wasteful profusion of salmon in the Alaaskan river, 173—scenery of the river, ib.—Behring Island, 175—Cagayan Sulu, ib.—Borneo, 176—the Celebes, and the sensible dealing of the Dutch, ib.—difference in the biological features of Sumbawa and of Java, 177—New Guinea, characteristics of the natives, ib.—island of Aru, 178.
- Mehemet Ali and the Egyptian imbroglio, 452. See Monarchy.
- Mitford, Mr. E. L., his scheme of travelling to Ceylon by land, 87. See Layard.
- Mivart, Mr. St. George, on the blunders of Anglo-Romanism, 59.
- Monarchy of July, and its Lessons, 439—style of work, want of full dates, 439—dethronement of Charles X. and candidature of Louis Philippe, 441—anarchy and disorder, 442—scepticism in religious belief, 443—M. Lafitte succeeded by M. C. Périer, ib.—fall of the Broglio ministry, 444—le tiers parti, ib.—the King denounced, attempt on his life, 445—the Thiers ministry, 446—M. Mole's Cabinet, ib.—Duc d'Orléans' marriage, 447—struggle between the Molé ministry and the opposition, 447—triumph of the coalition, 448—M. Thiers' second ministry, 449—M. Guizot in power, ib.—the three forged letters and the Spanish marriages, 450—effect on the Continent of the revolution of July, 1830, ib.—patience and tact of the King and M. de Talleyrand, 451—the Egyptian imbroglio, 452—treaty of July 15, 453—M. Guizot in office, 454—indignation against Lord Palmerston, ib.—affairs of Spain and Portugal, 455—the King's abdication, 457—La Fayette's popularity, 458—Talleyrand's efforts in London, ib.—escapade of the Duchess de Berry, ib.—her imprisonment, 459—Prince Louis Napoleon's performances at Strasbourg, Boulogne, &c., ib.—the African war, ib.—feelings of the bourgeoisie toward Louis Philippe, 461—Carrel's sketch of a bourgeois, ib.—attitude of the revolutionary party, 462—amnesty to all political offenders, 464—results of the constant changes of ministries, 465—Charles X. and Louis XVI. compared, 466—relation of the English Gladstonian party with the left of the French Chamber under Louis Philippe, 466—attempts to intimidate jurors borrowed from the French press, 467—useful lesson to be drawn, 468.

Mushroom-growing, 417 — enormous returns, 418. See Garden Farming.

N.

National Finances, the, of the last Twenty-five Years, 515—Mr. Gladstone's influence as a Finance Minister, ib.—Lords Sherbrooke and Iddesleigh his pupils, 517—unpopularity of Mr. Disraeli's Budget, 518—defects in the working of the Income Tax, 519—financial statement of 1860, and the Paper Duty, ib.—commercial arrangements with France, 520—Mr. Dowell on the remission of taxes in 1889, 521—direct and indirect taxation, 522—timber duty, 523—McCulloch's vigorous grasp of economic study, 523—Arthur Young on the taxes of England compared with those of France, 525—Sir G. C. Lewis on the Budget of 1857, 526—Mr. Lowe's of 1869, 527—duty on imports and exports of corn, 528—530—Mr. Lowe's attempt to tax matches, 530—Jevons on the reduction of the Sugar Duty, 531—abatements on the Income Tax, ib.—deterioration in Mr. Gladstone's financial career, 532—Mr. Dowell on the repeal of the Sugar Duties, 533—Budget of the last prosperous period, 534—arguments in favour of a permanent Income Tax, 535—increase of duty on tobacco and its results, 536—538—repeal of the malt duty, tax on beer substituted, 538—Customs duties, 539—National Debt and Sinking Fund, ib.—Mr. Childers' proposals, and Mr. Goschen's Budgets, 540—Mr. Ritchie's measure for Local Authorities, 541—The Income Tax diminished, 542—plans for the conversion of the National Debt, 543—tax on bottled wines, 544—Mr. Fairchild's remarks on taxation, 545, National Portrait Gallery, the, 339—private and public collections, 340—first attempt to form one of English portraits, 342—the Manchester 'Art Treasures Exhibition,' ib.—at the South Kensington Museum, 343—Lord Mahon's scheme of a permanent one, 343—345—Carlyle's opinion, 346—Lord Ellenborough's speech, 347—grant of 2000l. voted by Parliament, ib.—Trustees, 348—Mr. G. Scharf secretary, ib.—rules and regulations, 347—the 'Chandos Shakespear' and Sir W. Raleigh by Zucharo, 348—inadequate space, 349—removed to South Kensington, 350—danger from fire, 351—353—to Bethnal Green, 353—various sites proposed, 354—importance of the design and plan of a new building, 356—interest shown by the working classes, 357—catalogue, 358—selection of portraits, 359, 360—difficulty in identifying, 361—fraudulent changes, 362—high prices, 363—portraits transferred from the British Museum, 364—loan from the National Gallery, 365—Royal portraits, 366—Lady Jane Grey, the Stuarts, &c., 367—celebrated personages of the seventeenth century, 368—the most eminent men of the eighteenth century, 370—naval commanders and mariners, 371—men of science, philosophers, writers, painters, architects, actors, musicians, and dissenters, 372—distinguished persons of the nineteenth century, 373—'collective portraits,' 374—arrangement and classification, 375.

Newman, Card., treatment of him by Pius IX., 47—on the abandonment of the Universities of Europe for the clergy of the Latin Church, 48.

O.

O'Brien, Mr., burning of the Lord Lieutenant's Proclamation, 249. See Lawlessness.

Ontario, province of, number of Roman Catholic criminals, 60.

O'Reilly, Msgr., his letter to the 'Times,' 269. See Lawlessness.

P.

Pell, Mr. A., 'The Making of Land in England,' 220—on the Connington estate, 229.

Political parties in 1711, 183—186. See Carteret.

Porter, Mr., on the dwellings of the shopkeepers, 84. See Lessons, &c.

Pratt, Mr. J. Tidd, his connection with Friendly Societies, 385.

R.

Requiem, origin of the word, 288. See Apocrypha.

Ripon, Lord, effect of his teaching in India, 264. See Lawlessness.

Ritchie, Mr., his measures for Local Government, 541. See National Finance.

Roman Catholics in England, the, 31—
—increase in their numbers, ib.—
—history of the Anglo-Roman commun—ion, 33—new hierarchy established,
34—vast Irish immigration in 1846–
47, 34—number of Roman Catholics in England and Wales, 35—Panzani's mission of reconciliation, 36—Davenport's treatise, ib.—reunion projects, individual secessions, 37—triumph of Puritanism, 38—apologetic and polemical treatises, 39—cause of the Tractarian movement, 40—two great tides of secession, 41—effect of the convert movement, 42—number of converts since 1850, 43—influence exerted by them, 45—the Brompton
Oratory, 46—treatment of Card.
Newman, 47—number of Irish and foreign names, 48, 49—literary aspect, 48—theological literature, 49
—progress of the Roman mission, 50 —proportion to the population of the United Kingdom, 51—propaganda, ib.—Roman Catholic population in England, 52—decrease in number,
53—Lord Brayne on the lavish expenditure of the Romish Church, 54
—Mr. Bampfield on 'Our Losses,' 55
—lay-help, 56—Sunday schools, Children's Services, 57—debt and poverty, ib.—social and intellectual deterioration, 58—Mr. St. George Mivart on the blunders of Anglo-Romanism, 59—large proportion of criminals, 60—suggested remedies, 61.

Ryan, Father, his imprisonment, 249.
See Lawlessness.

S.

Sabaeans, the, described by Layard,
101.

Salmon, enormous number in the Kamchatkan River, 173. See Mar-chesa.

Salmon, Dr., his 'Introduction' to the Commentary on the Apocrypha, 277.
'Scepticism in Geology,' 173. See Mammoth.

Scharf, G., 'Historical and Descriptive
Catalogue of the National Portrait Gallery,' 359.

Severn, the Painter, describes the last days and death of Keats, 324. See Keats.

Smith, Prof. Goldwin, his article in the 'National Review,' 509. See Difficulties, &c.

Spanish Question, the, in 1833, 455.
See Monarchy.

Special Constables, quick response of the public, 246. See Lawlessness.

Stanhope, Lord, his adoption of Kaspar
Hauser, 489.

Stanley, Mr., his Report on Friendly
Societies, 391.

Sweeney, Mr., his warning to 'aristocrats,' 243.

T.

Tanner, Dr., his 'Apologies' to the House of Commons, 261.

Tenant-farmers, their difficulties, 73—habits and style of living, 74. See Lessons, &c.

Thureau-Dangin, Paul, 'Histoire de la Monarchie de Juillet,' 439.

Tithe rent-charges, 223. See Landed.

Tobacco, increase of duty on, and its results, 536. See National Finance.

Tractarian movement, proximate cause of, 40. See Roman Catholic.

Tristram, Canon, on the joint views of Messrs. Darwin and Wallace, 25.
See Darwin.

V.

Versailles, modern collection of portraits in the Palace of, 341.

W.

Warren, Sir C., his practical vigorous measures, 245.

Welsh Land League, the, 266. See Lawlessness.

West Indies, the, result of the abolition of slavery in, 497. See Difficulties.

West, Sir Algernon, on the gross annual value of land, 72.

Whitehead, Mr., his 'Market Gardening for Farmers,' 415.

Wright, Mr., his 'Mushrooms for the Million,' 417.

Y.

Yachts, development of, 161. See Marchesa.

Young, Arthur, on the taxes of England compared with those of France,
525. See National Finance.

END OF THE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-SIXTH VOLUME.

